Brunswick Commercial and Government Products Announces New RIB Product Line

March 24, 2009 - Edgewater, Fla. – Brunswick Commercial and Government Products (BCGP), the leading manufacturer of commercial and government watercraft, announced today that it will expand its product line and offer professional grade rigid inflatable boats (RIB).

The new Impact RIB product line ranges in size from 14 to 39 feet in length, with center console and cabin models and various propulsion options including inboard, diesel, waterjet, or outboard configurations up to triples. The hull is made of fiberglass with a beefed up commercial laminate schedule for durability, and the RIB tube is made from polyurethane. The fabric has extremely high abrasion resistance – five times greater than Neoprene/Hypalon. It also features resistance to pollution, deterioration caused by UV Rays, and superior puncture resistance.

“Expanding our product offering is in direct response to customer demand,” explained Jeremy Davis, BCGP sales manager. “A high quality, professional grade RIB is essential to some agencies. Those same agencies understand the economic challenges in the marine industry today, and want to deal with a company that has a solid history. Brunswick Commercial & Government Products has been providing crafts to commercial and government customers for over 40 years.”

Brunswick Commercial and Government Products is the pre-eminent supplier of boats for law enforcement, homeland security, special operations and combat and fire rescue, as well as, workboat applications. The Impact RIB line adds to BCGP’s extensive range of product offerings, which is unmatched in the commercial and government marketplace and includes commercial grade Boston Whaler boats, Triton commercial products and high-speed intercept FB Design craft. The new Impact RIBS will be showcased along with other BCGP products at the Multi Agency Craft Conference (MACC) in Norfolk, Va., June 2-6, 2009.

Demonstrations can be scheduled by contacting Jeremy Davis at 386-423-2914.
